NEWS RELEASE

New Bike Lane Pilot Project on Grant Drive

Public Feedback Meeting on Aug. 2

July 17, 2017 – As part of Connect Northglenn, the city's bicycle and pedestrian master plan, the City of Northglenn will install a bike lane pilot project on Grant Street from Muriel Drive to Malley Drive in late July. This trial is the city's first bike lane and will be in place through at least October. The city will then evaluate the success of the project.

Grant Street from Malley Drive to Emery Road will have:

- Two striped bike lanes
- Two 11-foot travel lanes
- Striped parking lane on the east side. (Parking on the west side of the street will be restricted)

Grant Street from Emery Road to Muriel Drive (adjacent to Stukey Elementary School) will have:

- Striped parking lanes on both sides
- 'Sharrow' bicycle symbols to encourage drivers to share the road

New signage will be installed along the entire project.

Cyclists and motorists are encouraged to try out the new configuration and provide their opinions. The city will have a public meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 2, 4:30-6:30 p.m., at Stukey Elementary, 11080 Grant St. The feedback will help the city determine how additional bike lanes should be installed.

This section of street was chosen because:

- The width was wide enough and also similar to other streets in town
- Adequate traffic
- Proximity to residential areas, commercial areas and a school
- Residents have complained that motorists drive too fast on this stretch, and similar projects have been shown to push down driving speeds
